

A new website platform for professionals in continuing education

The online platform www.koopolis.cz gathers and sorts information in the area of continuing education and promotes its use. It fosters continuing dynamic learning and provides sources for strategic planning and decision making. The website subtitled “Education under one roof” is intended for all professionals in the area of continuing education – from those in public administration and employment services across the educators to the employers and NGOs – providing them with high quality up-to-date information.

Koopolis website represents one of the main outcomes of the project Kooperace (Cooperation) concluded in November 2015 and implemented by the Continuing Education Fund (FDV – Fond dalšího vzdělávání). The project facilitated a comprehensive systemic view on continuing education under the auspices of the Ministry of Labour and Social Affairs (MPSV – Ministerstvo práce a sociálních věcí). It introduced knowledge management and thus contributed to the development of continuing professional education as an essential area of the employment policy of MPSV. The main objective of the project was to collect, analyse and sort available information on further education in the Czech Republic.

Design and content of the website are shaped by the users themselves. However, the new contributions are reviewed and approved by the website administrator in order to secure professional quality and objectivity of the information. Koopolis seeks to promote cooperation and know-how sharing among professionals. It provides scope for professional discussion and fosters communication among colleagues. It reflects the requirements and needs of its target group and offers an extensive database of sorted information, such as a map of state-promoted continuing education with its most important actors and instruments, legislation and national or regional strategies determining the areas of continuing education, directory of providers of further education, statistics and analyses, calendar of professional events, documents and publications. In addition, Koopolis provides also interaction and networking tools, up-to-date articles and expert opinions on important topics in the area of continuing education.
